21 Speakers’ Profile
It is an honor and privilege for the Philippines to host the 8th International Organization for Judicial Training (IOJT) Conference on the Training of the Judiciary, the first ever to be held in Asia. With PHILJA at the forefront of this Conference, I am confident that we will have a fruitful program and dynamic networking events, as well as productive educational sessions in your chosen venues, including our world class training center in Tagaytay City. I am certain that PHILJA will also ensure that all participants will experience the renowned Filipino warmth and hospitality to the hilt, while keeping everyone safe and comfortable while amongst us.

Amidst the worldwide threats to freedom and security, I challenge the IOJT and its member institutes to remain steadfast in our shared commitment to education and training of judges and court personnel. It is through competent and effective knowledge, skills, and attitudes that we empower the judiciary for effective delivery of justice and, ultimately, peace.

I congratulate the organizing team for the timeliness of this year’s conference theme: Judicial Education 2025 – Core Values and Future Innovations. No doubt, we will have invaluable sharing of experiences, interesting discussions on emerging trends, and setting of common goals for the future.

I look forward to welcoming all of you in Manila this November.

We are delighted to have you as participants in the 8th International Conference on the Training of the Judiciary, November 5-9, 2017 in Manila, Philippines: The Philippine Judicial Academy will be hosting this year’s conference, marking the first time the International Organization for Judicial Training (IOJT) Conference will be held in Asia.

The IOJT was established in 2002 to promote the rule of law by considering common issues for the training and education of judges, promoting and advancing cooperation among judicial training institutes, and facilitating the international exchange of information. IOJT has grown to represent 126 member institutes worldwide hosting an international conference every two years. Today, IOJT membership represents over 80 countries.

The theme for this year’s conference is Judicial Education 2025 – Core Values and Future Innovations. The education program will include plenary meetings and over 15 parallel sessions designed to discuss best practices, emerging issues and innovations.

The Conference features three-and-a-half days of rigorous educational sessions and networking events, including a day trip to the Philippine Judicial Academy training facilities in beautiful Tagaytay City. Speakers will include senior judicial officials and judicial education leaders from a diverse array of countries. This year’s academic program will include the presentation of International Judicial Training Principles developed by a distinguished IOJT Work Group.

I hope to see you in Manila at the 8th International Conference on the Training of the Judiciary.

It is with great pleasure that we welcome you to the 8th IOJT Conference on the Training of the Judiciary to be held in the Philippines on November 5-9, 2017.

The Conference is a flagship program of the IOJT and represents the largest gatherings of judicial education training institutes in the world to discuss the latest developments in the field of judicial education and trainings. The Philippine Judicial Academy, a leading provider of globally relevant, responsive, and effective training for the judiciary in the region, has been tasked to host this year’s Conference. We promise an engaging program of productive exchanges of ideas among judicial education trainers. We hope to place participants within a loop of reciprocal sharing of knowledge, research, and experiences in the field of judicial education.

In addition to providing an enriching program for the Conference, we also welcome you to our premiere training facility, the PHILJA Training Center, located in the scenic city of Tagaytay. It is our hope that you get a chance to explore its surroundings and enjoy the cool atmosphere of the city.

It is our honor to receive the distinguished members of the IOJT, representatives of judicial institutes, and international and local participants of the Conference.

We look forward to meeting you all in November.

Session 4. Training as Part of the Judicial Role: Recruitment Process of Trainers

Bonifacio Hall AB

Speakers: CHAIR: Honorable Nerina Casandra N. Anastacio-Mendinueto, First Level Court Representative to PHILJA Board of Trustees, Philippines
“The Internship as Part of the Training: Relationship between Judicial Training Institutes and Courts” by Ms. Sarah Dupont, Deputy Director, French National School for the Judiciary (ENM), France

“Equality of Opportunities in the Recruitment of the Judiciary” by Mrs. Tania Jewzcuk, Judge, International Department, French National School for the Judiciary (ENM), France

“Training Facilitators for Peer Consultation Group’s Leadership” and “The Unique Nature of Judicial Expertise and Know-How” by Honorable Daphna Blatman-Kedrai, Appellate Court Judge, Central District Court, Israel

Description: This session will discuss various aspects of training as part of the judicial role, especially the recruitment process of trainers: (a) Issues of equality of opportunities in judicial recruitment; (b) Ways to create and maintain an efficient relationship between judicial training institutes and courts, describing the system of the French National School for the Judiciary (ENM) on this issue, with both its assets and drawbacks, as well as the models chosen by other judicial training institutes; and (c) The theory and practice of the Peer Group Consultation as a judicial training model implemented in courts as part of a seven-year court management project in Israel. This model highlights the conduct of regular open dialogue among judges of a particular place or a particular field to jointly analyze work experiences and related issues, such as practices, procedures, and standards; and to discuss issues of collegiality, rules of conduct, and mutual assistance.

Session 5. Values and Ethics: Approaches to Integrity and Accountability Training for Judges
Narrator C

Speakers: CHAIR: Mr. Jeffrey A. Apperson, Vice President, International Programs Division, National Center for State Courts, USA
Honorable Maureen O’Connor, Chief Justice, The Supreme Court of Ohio, USA
Honorable Adolfo S. Azcuna, PHILJA Chancellor, and Justice (ret.), Supreme Court, Philippines
Honorable Wojciech Postulski, Judge, Secretary General, European Judicial Training Network, Belgium
Ms. Roberta Solis Ribeiro Martins, Judicial Integrity Team Leader, United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime (UNODC), Austria

Description: There are several national and international efforts such as the United Nations Doha Declaration to improve judicial institutional capacity to manage integrity and accountability more effectively. Improvements in these areas have a relational effect on judicial independence, public trust and confidence, and commercial investment considerations, among others. It is, therefore, of utmost importance that national and international judiciaries build strong internal mechanisms for the institutions to self-regulate the administration of strong codes of conduct, ethical guidelines and the role of judges and staff, as institutional leaders, in adhering to policy requirements. The emerging and ongoing challenge for judicial training institutions is to establish training methods and goals based on best practices to facilitate the critical development of curricula to address this essential global training goal.

Session 6. Training Content and Methodology: Multi-Disciplinary, Social Context and Skills-Based Narrator D

Speakers: CHAIR: Fr. Ranhilio C. Aquino, Chair, PHILJA Department of Jurisprudence and Legal Philosophy, Philippines
“Training Methods and Goals” by Mrs. Louise Lee Leth, Head, Department of Training, Danish Court Administration, Denmark

“The Role of Personal Security in an Independent Judiciary” by Honorable Anne Perpetual S. Rivera-Sia, Presiding Judge, Metropolitan Trial Court, Branch 12, Manila, Philippines

Description: This session focuses on three aspects:

(a) Mental health of judges and the factors that contribute to, and hinder, their productivity as judges.

This session seeks to deepen the participants’ understanding of mental health as an articulation of judicial impartiality. It will examine strategies relating to one’s own mental health and self-regulation in the courtroom; explore capacity and presumptions of normalcy in the mental health context; and develop strategies to respond to parties in the courtroom who fall along a continuum of mental wellness.
(b) Judicial Resilience and Gaining Public Confidence

This session aims to demonstrate how judges could work to enhance public trust and confidence in the judiciary.

(c) Personal Security

This session emphasizes the role of the judges in the protection of human rights, as well as the preservation of the Rule of Law, which needs to be protected from restrictions, improper influences, inducements, pressures and threats in deciding matters before them.

Session 8.
Research as Component of Judicial Training
PTC Global Distance Learning Center

Speakers:
CHAIR: Atty. Elmer DG. Eleria, PHILJA Chief of Office for Administration, Philippines

“Research and Judicial Education” by Dean Sedfrey M. Candelaria, Head, PHILJA Research, Publications and Linkages Office, and Dean, Ateneo de Manila University School of Law, Philippines

Dr. Richard Walter Fee, Director, Judicial Education, Judicial Education Center, Guam

Description: This session aims to provide a comparative analysis of how research is used as a component of judicial training by citing examples of current practices of selected judicial training institutions. It will look into the milestones reached by the judicial training institutions, the challenges they encountered, the best practices of leading institutions, and attempt to predict the direction of research in judicial education based on the present circumstances.

Session 9.
Transformative Education: Experimental Education Methods and Technical Methods (Part 1 of 2)
PTC Auditorium

Speakers:
CHAIR: Honorable Oswaldo D. Agcaoili, Justice (ret.) and PHILJA Professor, Philippines

“Online Sexual Exploitation of Children and the Philippine Judicial Academy Competency Enhancement Training Program” by Prof. Myrna S. Feliciano, Chair, PHILJA Department of Legal Method and Research, Philippines

Describe: The world is changing – and judges, being part of it, must adapt to linguistic, cultural and societal changes, including those prompted by technology. This session will discuss various issues (a) how social media creates risk to judges whose identity can be gleaned by online tracking methods without the need to sign up to any social media service; (b) big data and loss of privacy by considering the online activities of judges (and their friends and family members); (c) social media as generating evidence by examining samples from crime, family, defamation, employment and commercial information; and d) judicial misconduct by examining specimen codes of ethics for judges and how judicial activities online can result in disciplinary sanctions. The session aims to equip judges with the tools to perform their jobs in an increasingly hyper-connected world and maximize their digital security.

With the above-stated modern environment and issues, there will be a focused discussion on a more sensitive topic, i.e., online sexual exploitation of children and how the Philippine Judicial Academy capacitates its judges through competency enhancement trainings in handling such cases.

“The Role of a Judicial Training Institute in the Fight Against Terrorism” by Mrs. Tania Jewczuk, Judge, International Department, French National School for the Judiciary (ENM), France

“Practice-oriented Counter-Terrorism Training for Judges and Prosecutors Offered by the EJTN” by Dr. Rainer Hornung, Deputy Chief Prosecutor, Lörrach Prosecution Office, and Former Director of the German Judicial Academy, Germany

Description: Adjudicating terrorism cases raises several particular challenges: The judge needs to be experienced and to have in-depth knowledge on specific procedural questions (e.g., about how to handle evidence gathered abroad and information given by intelligence services), as well as on specific terrorist criminal offenses (membership in a – foreign – terrorist organization, undergoing terrorist training abroad, apology of terrorism, etc.). At the same time, the judge should in essence not treat the defendants differently from common offenders, all by trying to contribute to their de-radicalization. That is why the first two presentations will focus on the ethical and human rights impact of terrorism cases and on how judicial training can be carried out in this field. The following two presentations will illustrate strategies and practical examples of judicial counter-terrorism training, both at the domestic (French) and the European (EJTN) level.

Session 21.  Dealing with Digital Evidence
Narrac C

Speakers:
CHAIR: Prof. Jose Jesus M. Disini, Jr., Vice Chair, PHILJA Department of Court Technology, Philippines

Honorable Rainelda H. Estacio-Montesa, Member, PHILJA Department of Court Management, and Presiding Judge, Regional Trial Court, Branch 46, Manila, Philippines

Atty. Francisco Ed. Lim, Vice Chair, PHILJA Department of Commercial Law, Philippines

Description: This session will focus on challenges in handling digital evidence in courts and how it affects legal proceedings. Considering that we are currently living in a digital society, it is encouraged to have an extensive knowledge concerning digital evidence. Given its unique characteristics, the same should be treated with thoroughness as digital evidence becomes more pervasive in court proceedings.
